Data Sheet

Complete your test and measurement projects faster using Productivity Services delivered by Keysight experts

Service description

Keysight Technologies, Inc. provides Start-Up assistance when you want to get up to speed on new instruments quickly. You choose the style of service, by the day or the hour for on-going help, or Custom Engineering Services to produce defined results at a fixed price.

Business need

For new users of Keysight equipment, learn how to speed the time to measurement and avoid common start up mistakes. For experienced users, learn best practices and apply those measurements to your device to solve your problems.

Service scope

Keysight Productivity Services can be delivered at your site with the purchase of new equipment or with already installed equipment. For on-going needs, cost-effective web services are available as are custom services.
